

Green Lane Day

St Peters Quarter BID teamed with Derby City Council to organise Green Lane Day which took place on Saturday August 21st. Businesses from St Peters Quarter BID took centre stage at an event designed to encourage visitors back into the area. Attractions included several Green Lane businesses opening their doors with special offers and activities, including dance performances, face painting, food tasting and raffles.

Derby Festé

Derby Festé returned in September with a programme of vibrant, family-friendly fun bringing people back together. This year's compelling programme featured a host of world-known and exciting international and UK artists who brought the city centre's streets to life with modern and exclusive art installations, dance, music and street theatre performances. The BID is once again proud to have supported the event.

Google Garage

A series of free business workshops will be hosted in partnership with Google for St Peters Quarter BID businesses. The three sessions during October will cover Increasing Visibility on Google, Advertising on Google and Getting Started with Google Analytics – great key topics to help you really understand the most of the digital opportunities for your business.

Derby Market Place

The Derby Market Place Derby Loves You temporary venue continues to deliver an exciting and diverse year-round programme of live performances, events and festivals. The area provides much needed alfresco dining space for hospitality businesses across the city and a great entertainment space for family and friends to socialise.

Representing St Peters Quarter businesses

As well as delivering projects and activities within the St Peters Quarter BID area, the BID continues to represent businesses at a variety of meetings, summits and conferences. This helps build the profile of St Peters Quarter both locally and nationally, ensuring that the views of the BID and its businesses are taken into consideration.

Examples include:

- Derby Economic Recovery Taskforce
- Future High Street Fund
- Marketing Derby Bondholder events
- 300/Momentous steering group
- City Centre Summit
- Association of Town & City Management conferences

SPQ Annual Report 2020

The report featured a review of the work carried out by the BID during 2020, a financial summary and information on how you can get involved in your BID, thereby maximising the value for money you receive for your BID levy.

Derby Ram Trail

St Peters Quarter BID was a proud trail sponsor of this year's RAMtastic summer art event in Derby. The Derby Ram Trail brought an amazing array of wonderfully decorated rams animating the city. The summer event was embraced by the people of Derby and visitors alike.

The final instalment of the Derby Ram Trail took place in the recently opened Museum of Making as all 30 sculptures went under the hammer at the final auction, hosted by celebrity auctioneer and TV personality Charles Hanson. The St Peters Quarter sponsored ram 'Woolly Rammy', a representation of Derby's heritage designed by Rebecca Morledge, which took pride of place on St Peters Cross during the three months of the trail was sold for a whopping £6,200. This was only a small part of the total amount the event fundraised for Derby Museums' Endowment, which was over £150,000 and will be matched by The National Heritage Lottery Fund.

The BID delivered...

St Peters Quarter BID delivered a number of projects to provide an opportunity to businesses to take the most out of the summer event.

Some of these included:

- The Ram Sleepover
- Health and Wellbeing webinar week
- Ram trail guided walks
- Receipt competition, installing bunting and floor stencils to signpost people around the trail and many more

These were supported by a huge social media campaign which engaged businesses in posts and encouraged visitors to St Peters Quarter.

News on Developments in and around St Peters Quarter

Castleward

The Castleward redevelopment on the outskirts of the BID area is making significant progress on enhancing an important gateway to the city, consequently providing wider benefits to residents and visitors to the BID area. The development is being undertaken in a number of phases with the third of these commencing earlier this year. The £100m development will see a final provision of about 800 new homes, whilst the completion of the 320-place primary school was announced in September.

Nightingale Quarter

Another residential development close to the border of the BID area is Nightingale Quarter, one of the largest city centre regeneration sites in the UK and covering more than 18.5 acres. The development has been sympathetically designed to incorporate the iconic Victorian "Pepper Pot" buildings and will incorporate nearly 800 city centre homes, the first phase of which was completed in the summer.

Becketwell

Construction work is well underway on phase one of the £200m Becketwell scheme, with the initial steelwork of the 259 build to rent apartments now visible above the surrounding hoardings.

In addition to the residential aspect, a new public square will also form phase one of works, which are set to be completed by early 2023. Work is already well underway to bring forward phase two, with a planning application already submitted for a new 3,500 capacity performance and conference venue which will be operated by ASM Global, a leading venue and event management company.

More than 2,000 jobs are expected to be created by the development whilst it is also hoped the scheme will kick-start further investment in surrounding areas of the city centre.

AUTUMN 2021

St Peters Quarter BID

Renewal 2022-2027

Working together over the past 4 years with local businesses and partners, St Peters Quarter BID have delivered many benefits to the area and have provided significant support to the business community.

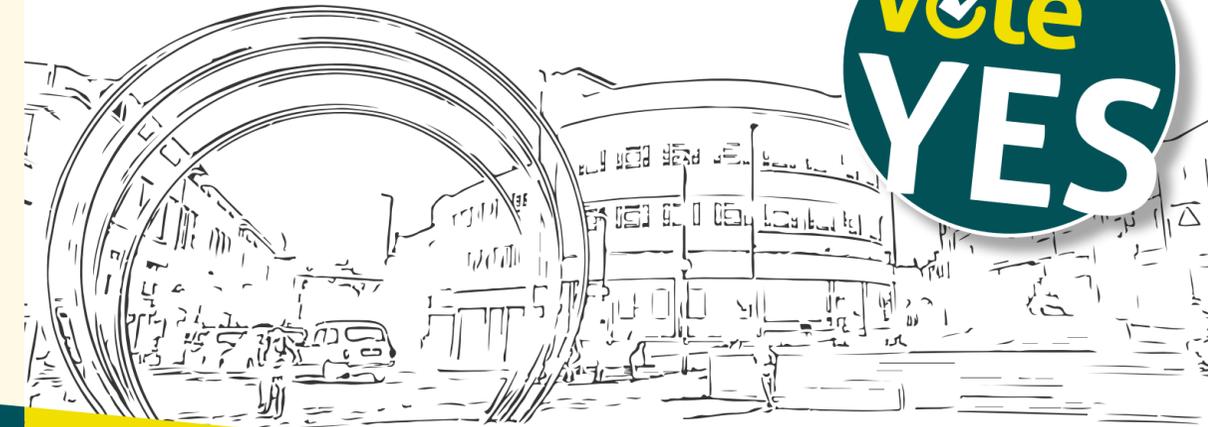

St Peters Quarter BID provides a single voice for businesses and the additional projects and services that we provide are essential to the future success of the area. We have worked towards making the area a safe and more inviting place for businesses and visitors alike but now is the time to take St Peters Quarter to the next level, working with the Council, Police, businesses, investors, landlords and other organisations to create a destination in its own right and to drive long-term, sustainable investments and improvements.

Being part of a BID enables businesses to have a say in St Peters Quarter, allowing us to lobby and lever in more support from others than would be possible as individual businesses. COVID-19 has highlighted the value of the BID in being able to respond quickly to the needs of the businesses. During the recent economic uncertainty, we hope that this has given you the confidence in the BID to deliver lasting change.

With a host of exciting developments in and around St Peters Quarter over the next few years, this is a really exciting time for the area, providing businesses with opportunities from which they can directly benefit.

We are now in the process of evaluating business priorities which will help shape the new business plan for the next five years and beyond and there is still time to make your view known. Please contact the BID Manager Ashley Lewis on 01332 419050 or email enquiries@stpetersquarter.co.uk

Checking business priorities

Over the last few weeks we have been revisiting businesses to see how views have changed since COVID started and to make sure that the new BID Business Plan for 2022-2027 addresses the new needs and priorities.

The renewal survey, workshops and one-to-one conversations with businesses have helped to understand the issues and needs in St Peters Quarter, and identify priorities for the future:

Tackling crime and safety

The top issues for SPQ businesses are still street begging, rough sleepers and drug and drink issues on the streets. Although feedback from businesses on St Peters Street say that the situation is better now than it used to be, 83% of businesses said that these issues were still either very poor or quite poor. The BID has continued to work hard with key partners to address these issues. This work has included lobbying for enhanced CCTV coverage in the BID area and sharing information and intelligence with the Police and others about substance abuse, rough sleeping and begging in the area. 86% surveyed said that this work has helped their business.

Driving more footfall to the area

With 96% of businesses saying they will remain in the area, the top suggestions for future projects were about developing the identity of the area even further, improving the commercial attractiveness of the area, making it more animated and improving the way the place looks and feels.

St Peters Quarter and New Opportunities

With building work now underway in Becketwell, the new exciting development which includes an entertainment venue, offices and apartments will see more people coming to St Peters Quarter.

Helen Wathall, Chair of St Peters Quarter BID, said that this will generate a lot of confidence in the area for other businesses, giving them confidence in the future of St Peters Quarter and will have a huge positive impact on footfall in the future.

Covid Support

The BID's response to COVID-19 centred on providing clear information to businesses during uncertain times, supporting you in accessing much-needed funding, lobbying on your behalf for greater assistance and providing security during periods of restrictions and lockdowns. The BID also continued to work with partners to implement plans to assist the recovery of the local economy, both in the short and long term.

- Earlier this year, St Peters Quarter BID worked alongside Cathedral Quarter BID to continue the overnight and early morning external security patrols seven days a week to help protect business premises and quickly report any issues to the Police.
- COVID business support packs were supplied to businesses to assist them with reopening and instore safety.
- We also continued with the 'Shop Local Online' campaign to encourage the public to support the businesses in the BID area during all lockdown restrictions.
